|---------------|--|
| STEP 1 | Cut a 3" wide strip of felt. Take the felt strip and wrap it around your ankle to measure the length you will need. Cut the strip to that length. |
| STEP 2 | Lay the strip in front of you horizontally. On the back side of the strip, measure 1" down from the top and draw a light pencil line all the way across. |
| STEP 3 | Next you will cut your fringe. Make cuts from the bottom up to the pencil line in about $\frac{1}{4}$ " increments. |

STEP 4 Punch six holes into the 1" band area at the top of the felt strip, evenly spacing them out starting at the left edge and ending at the right edge.

STEP 5 Cut a length of yarn twice as long as the felt strip. Beginning at one end, thread the yarn through the first hole, then string on two bells. Thread the yarn down through the second hole, then up through third hole. String two more bells, thread down through the fourth hole and up through the fifth hole. Add two more bells, then finish threading down through the last hole. Pull the yarn through so you have even lengths on either end of the anklet. Tie a knot at the first and last hole with the yarn to keep it from pulling through.

STEP 6 Glue sequins onto the front of the band between the bells. Let dry.

STEP 7 Tie the anklet around your ankle and trim excess yarn.
